

Types of tourism and accommodation

Tourism

Tourism refers to the business of providing accommodation and associated services to the people visiting places. Tourism involves two elements i.e., the journey to the destination & stay.

There are many different types of tourism which can change from country to country (based on the location). For example, you won't find any winter-tourism in Egypt

Different types of tourism:

Recreational tourism:

Tourism is an often activity for recreational purposes. Most tourism took a change and rest. This is the reason why package tours have become so popular.

Environmental tourism:

Rich and affluent tourists are preferred to spend more visits to remote places where they get pollution-free air to breathe.

Historical tourism:

Tourist is interested to know how our forefather lived and administered in a particular area. They visit heritage locations, temples, churches, museums, forts, etc.

Ethnic tourism:

This refers to people traveling to distant places looking at their routes and attending to family obligations. Marriage and death bring people together to their native places.

Cultural tourism:

Some people are interested to know how other people or communities stay, survive, and prosper. The kind of culture they practice their art and music is different from ours. So in order to acquire knowledge, understands culture well, to become familiar with the culture, they undertake a journey.

Adventure tourism:

There is a trend among the youth to take adventure tours. They go trekking, rock climbing, river rafting, etc. They organized a campfire and stay under the blue sky. This tourism is meant for people with strong nerves who can tolerate stress.

Health tourism:

In recent years, health tourism has become highly popular. People visit nature cure centers and hospitals providing specialist treatment.

Music tourism:

It can be part of pleasure tourism as it includes the moment of people sing and listen to music and enjoy it.

Village tourism:

It involves traveling and arranging tours in order to popularize various village destinations.

Accommodation

There are many different types of accommodations you can claim.

Different types of accommodation:

Hotels:

Hotels are the most common type of accommodation and easily accessible. Hotels are available in varieties of options from non- star to 5 stars.

Apartments:

This is one of the different types of accommodation having large areas and provides all the amenities like a hotel. In addition to that it provides great location. One of the important facilities is the kitchen where you can cook the food as per your choice. One of the biggest advantages of the apartment is that it can be available for cheaper rent as compared to hotels.

Hostel:

Hostels are the cheapest and most accessible accommodation. Hostels offer shared room to sleep in different beds in the same room. Guest will have to share a common bathroom and toilet.

Guesthouse:

It is cheap as compared to hotels and apartment. It is maintained and run by the owner of the house who lives separately in the same building. Guest house may have furniture, garden, parking, and private bathroom. Owner of the guesthouse provides home made food.